

WELCOME OUR OVERNIGHT VISITORS We are hosting three groups of college students during successive weeks in March who are making service trips to Atlanta during their colleges' spring breaks. Volunteers are needed to meet the groups on their arrival, show them around and get them settled. A group from the University of Michigan will arrive Sunday, March 1st around 6 pm. A group from Southern Illinois University will arrive Sunday, March 8th in the evening. A group from the University of Maryland will arrive Saturday, March 14th in the evening. You will be given detailed instructions about what they need to know and see. We will have you exchange cell phones with a member of the group and we will ask them to call you when they are an hour away, and again when they get off the expressway. That way, you won't be chained to your house all afternoon and will have plenty of notice of their imminent arrival. If you think you can be available to offer hospitality to one of these groups, please let the office know.
